

Olameter and City of Saskatoon Receive Successful Measurement Canada Accreditation

Montreal, Quebec and Saskatoon, Saskatchewan (October 22, 2002) - Olameter Inc. and the City of Saskatoon announced today that they have received accreditation from Measurement Canada to provide meter lab services in the City of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan. The accreditation will allow the City of Saskatoon to certify meters on behalf of Measurement Canada through Olameter's Quality Assurance Program.

"This is an excellent opportunity for the City of Saskatoon. As a municipally-owned utility, we want to assure our customers that their meters are consistently and accurately measuring their consumptions. Olameter's Quality Assurance Program will allow us to sustain a high level of customer satisfaction by meeting our customers' needs and expectations. This partnership will prove to be a cost-effective approach," said Rob Redekop, Customer Relations Manager from the City of Saskatoon Utility Services - Electric System.

"We are very pleased to earn this accreditation," said Jan Peeters, CEO of Olameter, "Olameter operates one of the largest independent meter shops in Canada. Our superior testing and certification facilities are complemented by our technical expertise and customer dedication. This additional federal accreditation speaks well of our competency."

This is the third accreditation Olameter has received from Measurement Canada. The previous two accreditations were granted in Mississauga, Ontario and Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario. Measurement Canada monitors accredited organizations through periodic audits. For accreditation purposes, Olameter has developed and implemented a series of quality assurance programs to meet the complex requirements.
